

A TALK WITH PAUL OWEN

Intimate moment with daylilies

A 'NO-NONSENSE' APPROACH TO HYBRIDIZING

Saturday, May 28th, 2PM
Jardin botanique de Montréal

AMISJARDIN.COM

INFORMATION

The conference is free for all, but registration is mandatory.

Please register here or call us during our office opening hours:
514 872-1493

Exclusively for Les Amis du Jardin botanique de Montréal. Paul Owen, an international speaker, community activist and daylily hybridizer offers a very special conference to share his prolific experience with our community! Don't miss the opportunity to participate in this great event hosted by our team.

PAUL OWEN

Through a personal journey of 25 years of experimenting with hybridizing, starting in the Pocono Mountains (NE Pennsylvania) in 1995, Paul Owen explains how simple it is to nourish diversity in a garden. Regardless of your favorite species or our ability to diagnose their true genetic capacities... The basic concept of life hasn't changed at all. To survive, species have sex... And it's what those pretty flowers we love are actually all about! This is the perfect conference to help you impress your garden visitors with your very own hybrid creations!

PROGRAM - SATURDAY, MAY 28TH - JARDIN BOTANIQUE DE MONTRÉAL

2.00 PM - 3.30 PM Conference (EN)

3.30 PM - 4.00 PM Q&As (EN)